

HEALTH SAFETY AND ENVIRONMENTAL POLICY

BridgePro is committed to providing and continuously improving a safe, healthy and environmentally conscious workplace for all of its employees, contractors, and visitors to its premises and sites as well as to the premises of its clients.

BridgePro will operate the business to the systems required by:

- AS/NZS 4801:2001 Occupational health and safety management systems - Specification with guidance for use; and
- AS/NZS ISO 14001:2004 Environmental management systems - Requirements with guidance for use.

The OHS and Environmental Policy receives the highest priority from the senior managers of the organisation and this priority is communicated to all personnel connected with the company.

BridgePro is committed to the use of safe and environmentally responsible working systems supported by documented work method statements and will only utilise materials that are safe and do not pose an adverse risk to the environment.

All incidents, however minor, are reported to management so that appropriate action can be undertaken to prevent recurrences or to minimise any future risks.

BridgePro will reduce and recycle waste materials where possible and dispose of all non-recyclable waste material in a responsible manner.

All BridgePro employees and contractors attend appropriate training courses for the type of work that they undertake, enabling them to complete their tasks in a competent and safe manner.

Employees and contractors are expected to report all hazards to senior management and shall observe safe and environmentally sensitive working practices at all times.

BridgePro undertakes to consult its employees, contractors and the client on safety and environmental matters especially where any workplace change of practice may affect their health, safety, environment or their obligations.

BridgePro will endeavour to comply with all legislative obligations under occupational health safety and environmental legislation.
